Meet global corruption's hidden players

You are going to listen to a Talk given at one of the TED conferences in June 2013. The talk is given by Charmian Gooch, co-founder of anti-corruption NGO Global Witness, which tracks money to expose deep-rooted global corruption.

Task 1

Listen to the talk and take notes. After listening, organise your notes in a coherent way so that you can draw up a list of the key points made in the talk.

Task 2

You are working as an intern for the international NGO Transparency International. In preparation for the G20 2013 summit in St Petersburg on September 5-6 you have been asked to write a short article to be published on the TI website. The article will outline the main issues Transparency International hope International leaders will address in the upcoming summit, in particular regarding hidden company ownership in Africa. The article should also be intended as a call for increased transparency and a stronger commitment to deal with the problem of corruption. In brief, the article should outline its 'ideal agenda' for the summit.

Your article will draw not only on the information from the talk, but on any relevant information in the reading texts and the Use of English text.
